About Pacific Bepure

The Pacific Bepure footwear label "Baopiao" or "Bepure," is one of the most well known in China, and considered a "favorite brand." The Company's four lines of "Travel Time" casual and sports shoes are aimed primarily at young women in China's smaller cities, who appreciate their comfort, style and value, as well as special features for which the brand is known, especially hidden height increasing technology. They are manufactured by the Company, and sold in 22 provinces through a network of distributors in retail stores and other outlets, as well as on the Internet, and through a distributor to a growing number of consumers in South America. Following a successful reverse merger in late 2009, Pacific Bepure is now a fully reporting company on the U.S. OTC Bulletin Board, where its shares trade with the symbol PBEP.OB.
